

Multiples: A New Type Of Crime For Criminology

M. R. Pinheiro

Abstract:

People now exist in clusters and the clusters fight against each other for the privilege of being the 'chosen ones'. We are going to live in space some day and there we may face any sort of attack but laws cannot be enforced even if those exist because it is about space creatures, therefore possibly different races, and the laws then either wouldn't be supported by all possible races or wouldn't be passive of reinforcement because those in charge of compliance wouldn't always have the same physical, spiritual or mental powers or, if they did, they wouldn't always have the same skills and capabilities.

I. Introduction

All seems to start with 'Osama bin Laden', who was probably the son of a slave in Saudi Arabia, having had his family picked up from India by force. He is free in Saudi Arabia at a certain stage, cannot work either for not wanting or not being able to, so no skills, which would have been the same that happened to the black Africans, in Rio, that got given freedom by the 'master' before the laws changed (then making slavery illegal). He then, like the black Africans in Brazil that we just mentioned, does what people of their skin color seem to do in that situation, which is turning to crime, which makes him go to jail there. Some Africans approach him in jail and offer the possibility of usurpation. He accepts and becomes 'Osama bin Laden'. Osama was originally a sunni muslim (Co-pilot), which means he was one of the so few muslims who believe both man and woman are equal before God, so that the group that gave 'Osama' the usurpation had his type as a target (anything that is close to Christianity would be a preferred target).

He then creates a narrative, which is something 'Nelson', his closest subordinate, would later on excel at: in India, where we are from, there are many centenarians, and we will do everything we possibly can to last for that long, which includes learning all we can in science for that purpose, of that investment, so that we can say our lives will last for at least 100 years. Probably the case that 'Osama's family believed in reincarnation, so that he proposes: to spiritually evolve to maximum, the individual probably has to incarnate a few times and the most different the human existence in each incarnation is from the previous ones, the more they can learn. We have problems with what comes after life, since we are satanic and should therefore go to hell but we may as well make all these incarnations happen inside of the same one, if we are smart enough. 'Braganca', the devil, then tells me that they worry about natural ageing: that the person only changes looks in a dramatic way each 20 years. In this way, would say 'Osama', we will be able to live inside of the same usurpation for at most 20 years if we are eternal, since the looks of the original person would change, like they would age, but we wouldn't, and people are then going to find out or have more clues if we remain in the same usurpation. The multiples will compete among themselves to see who succeeds in getting to learn the largest amount and variety of crimes, since clusters are organized in a way to serve the eternal and the reason for that is that the eternal perpetrates largest amount and variety of crimes. The champion gets to live the final 20 years of the usurpation, subsequently dying with the ID, which shall be an ID that is much better than his original ID, since he would have spent life committing crime but God is not going to judge him as him: God, like the entire human kind, would be deceived into believing he is the genuine owner of that ID, therefore the person who, more than likely, was born from Christian parents.

The marginal does quite a bit of research and is obsessed with science, so that he concluded that Our God is the Elohim, since the word that is translated as God in the bible, where it matters, so life of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, is Elohim instead in Hebrew and that means gods instead of God. The marginal had access to a book called Senhores do Mundo, therefore a book originally written in the Portuguese language, and, in that book, the researcher says the bible was written in Aramaic and, in that language, each word had some six different meanings, so that one of the meanings of the word Elohim is flying object spitting fire, which, for the marginal, and also for us, means spaceship.

The marginal also studied the bible and ended up reading Revelation, where he became aware of a time Christians call rapture and the marginal then interprets it in the way he pleases: that 144,000 will be chosen by God through Jesus to be in paradise with Him. The marginal then thinks: we are demoniac, top evil, so that Jesus is never going to choose us unless there is nobody else on earth at such time and the prophecies should always be fulfilled, since otherwise God would have failed, but God never does that. The Christian Jewish told the marginal God will send a warning about 3 years before rapture, so that the marginal plans to kill everyone on earth apart from his selected 144,000 in order to be the only ones in the planet at such a time. People would be all getting bugged in the head through his satanic system, which includes usurpation, so that, when such a time comes, the marginal could literally press one button and kill everyone else apart from those from the selected group.

The intentions with that would be usurping also the Elohim and taking their place to start a new race, where everyone will be demoniac instead, since the marginal gets tired: 'Braganca' told me that, regardless of the usurper's number (like number 1 from first usurpation, number 2 from second and so on), everyone wants to do what is right at work, so for their job/official function in society (despite the things that are done to them by the marginal, so sending the original soul to hell, taking it from us, replacing it with a mechanical soul, totally demoniac one, obliging us to live inside of the satanic system and therefore to sin as much as possible and so on), if nothing else (what basically means that regardless of how long these crimes have been lasting for, there is always a large number of people in compliance who would like to arrest and stop them, which is indeed what we see (on those occasions, the marginal then beholds the institution, so that they replace the top person in order to 'adjust' or 'fix' 'society'). Basically, the marginal wants to create his own humans from scratch and make sure that, this time, they will be like him, since, first of all, he said that human beings are naturally satanic and God forces them to be good by brainwashing their soul with kindness and other heavenly feelings before inserting those in them.

In this paper, we write about how the above information connects to space fights and go through a few real-life examples to prove that such a crime exists in society. We then mention some of the things that come as a consequence of such a crime.

Development

The marginal then thinks that, after they take over the spaceship of the Elohim, it is possible that they will have to engage in physical fight, which I myself think the marginal theorizes could also be with beings of the Elohim Planet, even though the marginal talks about beings from other space civilizations instead.

The marginal then worries about defeating the enemy in a body-to-body combat, when they think anything will be allowed, so that those taking over the Elohim's spaceship would have to be the worst marginals on earth, those to have largest amount of knowledge about ways of cheating, lying and deceiving as well as physical power and skills.

The marginal worries about twins because that would be the people who would form the best cluster of multiples, since they all would think/feel/react similarly and could then help each other better, also obviously learn better together and so on. At the same time, the marginal wanted us to have no chance as they take over the world and, posteriorly, the Elohim's space, so that he worries about us not having twins to fight for God (that is all that there is: it is either God or the devil: whoever is not with God will be his).

The marginal also worries about people looking most similar as possible in the clusters in terms of face, so that one, nobody notices they are multiples, if possible, two, those fighting them get confused, and three, so that they can escape jail on the second witness' sight, which they imposed as an official system for compliance (having a second sight: witnesses then go for the first recognition and say this one, first one, is the marginal. The marginal goes and swaps multiples, and the ideal multiples would have a lot of distance in height between one and another, and the witness comes for a second sight. The witness will then be discredited somehow because the second version of the marginal will be much taller or much shorter even when the faces 'coincide'. I then imagine the standard questions the police ask witnesses would always include approximate height of the marginal, like the marginal would have used his demoniac army to impose that to compliance.

Perhaps the best case of multiples we have nowadays is 'Tom Cruise': way more than five. In this case, multiples could easily be losing their lives and be replaced all the time during his movies, since the marginal made a point there, that being because my twin hides behind those multiples, like his essence is used whenever they want to pass the energy of an extremely romantic, energetic, genuine and moved-by-the-soul/heart/God's person, what happens a lot during photographic sessions and interviews.

Here:

Differences are clear: chin and noses will do to confirm this. Half-face comparisons would give the best contrast in a computer setup. In the case of 'Tom Cruise', I observed once that the multiple doing the acting, when they were still recording one of this movies, forgot which, was very different from the one who attended the party later on, so that 'Tom' seems to play with those multiples in order to be able to cope with his so busy schedule.

Yet, less famous multiples, such as 'Nelson's', alternate for several other reasons, and one of those seems to be that they go on committing crimes while the other is 'keeping their place', so that, if the police ever catches them, they will have what is called an alibi to make sure they get out of jail quite easily.

Wives and girlfriends may eventually notice the difference, as I did, when 'Rogerio1' swapped to 'Rogerio2' ('Rogerio de Oliveira', lived mostly or all the time in Brazil, Rio de Janeiro), like I first noticed there seemed to be something very different with his nose (later on I would remember 'Rogerio1' talking to me about one nose being to one side and the other to the other, like he had a huge deviation of line of nose), then I noticed there was something very different in bed, something to do with anatomy, but the marginal then immediately 'fixes us', like they erase the perception and put a 'voice' inside of us to cancel that intuition. When 'Danny1' swapped to 'Danny2' ('Danny Gil', lived mostly or all the time in Australia), I also noticed it immediately because the height was extremely different, like the first one was short but the other was like a kid, and the marginal then fixes us again. When 'Brad1' swapped to 'Brad2' ('Bradley Paul Neal', lived mostly or all the time in Australia), I found that harder to tell but the whiteness of one seemed to be greater than the whiteness of the other.

'Nicole Kidman' also has multiples, so that, for her, living with 'Tom Cruise' was not a big deal. She is also a top in the marginal's group, having victimized us to an extreme entire life. We theorize that she is one of their transgenders, so one of their eternal. In this case, since the image we see is aging, the eternal may be the multiple that is now off, like off-circuit. Perhaps if we finally have Forever Young disclosed to human kind, that multiple will be on again, now pretending it is connected to our proposal of research from 2001.

Another case of multiple from modern times is 'Obama'.

'Barrack Obama' is the boss of Hezbollah, which is supposed to be the most religious terrorist group from those we 'study' and also the most connected to the university students.

He has an extraordinary number of multiples (same with 'Tom') and we can't really tell, just like it was with 'Tom', what is multiple and what is usurpation, so what represents death/homicide of the previous multiple or simply alternative of 'stay'. We know however that for sure the original person has been replaced long time ago. In the case involving 'Tom', he would have assumed the stolen ID by 1974, when I assumed mine. In the case involving 'Obama', I was with 'Braganca' and 'Nelson' when they invaded the USA apartment of 'Obama' and raped 'his' kids (they do scramble (they swap babies by the time of the birth, so that, when someone wants to attack the satanic, they cannot harm their actual kids. I was actually with the devil as he did a few scrambles, when he takes babies from inside of the nursing area) and rape kids (meaning here that they rape the result of the scramble, so someone else's kids: back then they already gave them phase out through head bug before raping, so that, in principle, those don't remember or feel anything), as a habit, this being a rule for every usurper, as far as I understood), and that would be more or less when 'Obama's' existence was usurped. I believe the library talk, which was until recently available online, a YouTube, was given by the original 'Obama', so that anyone can see who the original man was and what he thought there.

I assume anyone can see the difference between the versions of 'Obama' that I exposed here through pictures, yet, if you don't, please notice nose, chin, line of the hair, skin color, ears and facial shape.

A position such as president of the USA is one that elicits no doubts about character so far, like we do have the case of 'Trump', yet he converted to Christianity, talked about the bible, has a beautiful son who praises the Lord beautifully and that seems very sincere and so on. We know that the elections are all a fraud, like there are no elections in democracy for long: if people vote and a person wins, they replace. If they planned a result from a person like 'Trump', and they did that, they then force it even if it is via cheating on figures of the election. How they do that is not something I can tell, yet I am sure they do. All governments on earth are decided at closed doors in an apartment in Rio by 1980, in principle by Saudi Arabian males and they plan those things many years in advance, like at least 20 each time, so that I have absolutely no doubts it is all farce one way or another. That would be Al Qaeda.

Anyway, that position is there so that nobody will cast doubts about their character and then, if accusations of the type I am making ever come to the surface, they will allege they were always working hard in the presidency of the USA even if they were in reality plotting the next world war in an apartment in Rio instead.

They travel in invisible ways from one Country to another and even to top of houses where they collect corpses of those whose life they usurped. They have spaceships for ages, having started with a little one built with the Macquarie University resources by 1972 thanks to an undergraduate student with Asian background who had a project that was not approved for funding to build such. At a certain stage, 'Braganca' used to travel in private airplanes piloted by 'Truls Foushaug' from Scientology, Sydney. They also transported corpses like that. Strategies are plenty, really, so that is just to say the multiples make all this possible.

What would be the way to stop that from happening, so this ID sharing that is so harmful to society? We could all be identified by means of our DNA, have scanners everywhere in place of showing documents and therefore having developed ways to calculate DNA based on image of skin. We could then require such a proof to guarantee entrance in offices, cars and others. On the other hand, it is realistically only God's Brainwashing that can solve the problem of disloyalty: there will always be ways to cheat on the system and there is always going to be people willing to do that, yet we cannot afford the costs involved with not even one of them doing that, like one Christian life would have been enough, imagine so many. God's Brainwashing will make us stop committing crime, stop disloyalty, and that is the only way the intentions won't exist and it is the heart, the soul of the marginal what leads to disloyalty, specially of this size.

We are living a unique moment in human history: the marginal, or the devil, has helped us by bugging us all or substantial part of us. The brainwashing to save our souls can then happen in the most efficient way as possible, reaching largest number of people it may reach, this in the entire world. It is four instructions: I will always tell the truth, I will always comply, I will always have good intentions and I will never panic. All languages, which apparently means about 7,000, at least once a day, to everywhere on earth via satellite. We have a plan.

II. Conclusions

We here have exposed one more type of crime, this one created by Al Qaeda, which is Multiples. Two main cases of multiples have been studied: 'Tom Cruise' and 'Obama'. The crime has been described in terms of intentions and impact on society. A first person report has been presented in terms of those and other cases.

The suggestion to compliance is DNA scanning and the suggestion to human kind is God's Brainwashing. It was pointed out that we cannot risk losing not even one Christian life, so that it is more logical that we have God's Brainwashing than that we invest in prevention, since, first of all, if the intentions are present in any member of society, it is very unlikely the crime will be noticed in time to make loss of human life an impossible event.
