Abstract:

*In this paper, we attempt to give justice to these four historical figures of major importance. Those are then Karl Marx, with his book, The Capital, which proposed an alternative to treating the employee as a mass instead of an individual and a way to see production and products that also included and measured their value or impact on society (not only their financial cost/impact), John Dewey, with his ideas on how to align education with democracy, Eleanor Roosevelt, with the creation of world directives that lead to a fairer and more equitable treatment of societal members by the governments, and Marta Suplicy, with the creation of the how to make women who have been 'formatted' by culture, traditions, rhetoric and practices into passive and compliant (with any rule, including those imposed by most abusive and irrational husbands and parents, called Mariazinha by her, which means Maria, the daughter, instead of Maria, the mother, when Maria is a mother of a woman whose chosen name is also Maria and Maria is intentionally chosen, since that would be the name of the mother of Jesus, therefore of the Savior of human kind, qualification which should mean she is greatest in influence in society and powers of Our God (it is her own body and biology that generate Christ on their own) become active and owners of their own destiny/thinking/personality (therefore become Maria, the mother, as the biography of the mother of Jesus should read, so most influential in society and most powerful, as for Our God's delegation of powers). The process we undertake is referred to as the desatanization of biography. We then present a selection of tools that can be considered standard for this type of procedure. On the way to performing all those tasks, we get to also lightly desatanize the biographies of Ida Tarbell (America's Greatest Journalist), Annie Nathan Meyer and Josephine Jewell Dodge, who were tagged as women who opposed the award of rights to vote to the own women.*

I. Introduction

All the historical figures we here discuss had their existences usurped (satanic brotherhood/sisterhood<sup>1</sup>) [1] at a certain height of their lives and, after such a dark historical moment, their biographies became increasingly satanized (with the exception of John Dewey's) and over time they seemed to portray their subjects as having contributed far less to society through their efforts on earth than they had actually done. At times, their unique and precious names came to be remembered by humanity as belonging to individuals who contributed to the world and human society in ways that fundamentally opposed the causes they originally fought for.

Karl Marx is now associated with communism, which means that, instead of fighting for the individual to be seen as most particularized as possible, a unique creature of Our God in all senses, he would have fought for the complete nullification of individuality, when the individual is so nothing that state, an abstract concept, merges with his/her self.

<sup>1</sup>It is all actually coming from the satanic brotherhood: They have a strategy to take over the world, which includes some of their black men changing themselves into transgenders for a time (they plan on changing themselves into black men again in the final steps of the plan). All other names and terrorist organizations associated with them or their members are instrumental for their achievements, but they are always on top, so the satanic brotherhood: they always get one of their members to 'decapitate' the organization they want to have available as instrument, so say Hezbollah, Russian League or Al Qaeda, and become their new leader, when the organization then seems to have accepted partnership with them. We believe Al Qaeda was originally a good organization, just like the party that later on becomes the Nazi Party, and probably Hezbollah as well: they take over and decharacterize the organization but use their name and associates plus followers in whatever possible.

John Dewey's biography was not subjected to much satanization.

Eleanor Roosevelt is now one like any other of the same type and still 'just a wife' of an important male: Co-pilot says, about her, that "Eleanor Roosevelt (1884–1962) was an influential American political figure, diplomat, and activist. She redefined the role of First Lady during her husband Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidency (1933–1945) by actively engaging in public policy and championing social causes. After her time as First Lady, she became a delegate to the United Nations (UN) General Assembly and chaired the UN Commission on Human Rights. In this role, she was instrumental in drafting the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, adopted in 1948—a landmark in the promotion of global human rights. Eleanor was known for her advocacy for civil rights, women's rights, and social justice. She authored books, wrote a popular syndicated newspaper column, and gave countless speeches, leaving a profound legacy as one of the most impactful women in modern history. Her tireless dedication to equality and human dignity has inspired generations." Basically, from first person (here including both genders) in human history to come up with world directives that lead to a fairer and more equitable treatment of societal members by the government, she is now reduced to someone who revolutionized how First Ladies should behave (we notice here that even the expression 'First Lady' is absurd, since they don't call the president of the USA First Gentleman: it is there to reinforce Islamic/demoniac/satanic thinking, so that it implies that there are more ladies of the president, not just her, like she is first or most important, yet there is the second, the third and so on), since those are the first lines of her Co-pilot description. Co-pilot still ads that it was after her time as First Lady, so perhaps when she became second in preference of the male president, that she became 'a delegate' to the UN. That she was then 'instrumental' in 'drafting' the Human Rights Declaration: Dear Our God, the woman created it all and probably wrote it, not just drafted. To desatanize Co-pilot a little, I asked, 'who came up with the idea of human rights', and he then said 'The United Nations' adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948, spearheaded by figures like Eleanor Roosevelt, was a landmark moment in defining and promoting human rights worldwide.' Yet, she was the chair of the commission of human rights of the UN, the person responsible for the final proposal to the UN as well as the person to envisage all: literally the head in charge.

Marta Suplicy is now associated with "sexuality is a vital part of life, and understanding it is key to personal fulfillment" (Co-pilot on her most famous sentences), therefore perversion (since nobody needs to understand the normal sexuality, given by Our God and thought of as proper of humans by the members of democratic societies: at most they need to understand their organs/biological parts well, how they work best, if something is faulty, if there is a certain shape of penis that doesn't fit their vagina, if they are women, how to spot a disease and so on) instead of feminism, empowerment of women and Christianity (she used the name Mary in the title that summarizes her thesis, so in the sentence that defines her work while still alive, so that she clearly associated herself to Christianity).

We then first prove that all these key historical figures have had their existences usurped at a certain stage through performing an imagistic study to then suggest ways to fix the mess left by the satanic brotherhood/sisterhood members. We worry, in special, about desatanizing biographies.

Development

Karl Marx

We here watch more barbarian satanic brotherhood attack consequences: Marx's image goes from that of a privileged white European family's member to that of a middle-class black family's member to that of a miserable black family's member (nose will help you tell one from another using your naked eye, if nothing else, please). Yet, I don't believe any of them represents the true Karl Marx: the man on [2] seems at most worried about wild animals and passes some flare of satanic homosexual but Marx was worried about humanity in human kind, preserving and increasing it instead, which are adequate and Christian concerns, and those are in nothing compatible with perversion or preserving animals instead, specially wild ones, known for being hostile to humans. We also add that Leinha lists a few things satanic sisterhood members (so black men who changed themselves into women) should try to do in order to best fulfill their mission and one of them is at least sometimes taking pictures holding animals or children, since that makes their figure become non-threatening/lose masculinity. She must copy all from the brotherhood and there is a chance that the sisterhood was not created by her either, like it may have existed for a while before her. I believe she told me that the fox was actually dead, like it had appeared at the place and they killed it, so that the man at the leftmost picture is holding a dead animal but they then make him put his right hand to hold its head, so that it doesn't fall (the head of the animal falls after its death, says Co-pilot).

Karl Marx was born in Germany [5] and German men were still very white (less than 5% of the population was black, according to Co-pilot, 1840), green or blue-eyed (Co-pilot thinks we can estimate that about 70% were like that back then, even though we lack statistics) and Christian (Co-pilot says that over 95% of the population would identify as Christian) by the time of Karl's life (1818-1883) [5]. More substantial evidence to the side of him being a Christian could be his marriage in a protestant church in 1843 [5], yet we believe his existence got usurped at most in 1837 since they say he didn't finish 2 of his works, Scorpion and Felix and Oulanem [5], but a Christian always would. Since the works match in nothing a person with his profile, of concerns with humanity in human kind, those were invented by the marginal and what he really wrote at most when he was 19 years old was The Capital, which the marginal then published much later, which is frequently seen in his actions (Internet Explorer was usurped in 1972-3, with me witnessing part of it, Enmore house, so that the inventor lived in that area, Sydney, and it got released to the public only in 1995 (Co-pilot), which is at least 22 years later). The Capital got released in 1867 (Co-pilot) and that would be about 30 years after it was written, with the marginal then creating his own narrative: that he married that particular woman, liked her father, got interested in Hegelian philosophy and so on. The marginal let us know that the father of Marx was extremely interested in Kant and Voltaire [5] and those are indeed aligned with The Capital, so that Marx would have honored at least his father in The Capital's Preface or Dedication Page, maybe the girlfriend as well. Because the marginal says he honored the father of the wife at a certain stage (doctoral thesis, [5]), then The Capital was dedicated solely to his own father. He would also have at least a girlfriend by the time he wrote The Capital. Since he got usurped, she also did. In this case, his parents and her parents also got usurped and, if they had siblings, all siblings, and at least those (pattern of the satanic brotherhood crimes).

His Wikipedia page (Wikipedia is a satanic vehicle: its pages were initially filled from the authors violating people who had all information in human kind, such as CIA researchers, through head bugs/666s. I know that because the idea of doing things like this came from my mind, like I remember saying something similar to myself or an Al Qaeda relative, actually perhaps it was 'Trevor Skinner', and I had one of the Wikipedia writers trying to also use my head at a certain stage, with him then conversing with me, as sometimes they do, and confirming all) says that he was part of the poets' club, which is compatible with them finding and publishing some of his poems for the girlfriend (not 'his' wife), therefore possible, and also of a drinking society (pub sort of thing), which should not be possible, since he did have a girlfriend, who he loved very much, given his poems. The marginal then created this pertinence to this particular club after the righteous owner of the ID was killed and he then also added the sources that supposedly refer to that (he probably uses some satanic slaves when other people/usurpers testify on those things being true). They then talk about a duel that Karl Marx would have accepted [5] but that shouldn't be possible with someone like him, like sensitive, romantic, Christian and so on, so that that is the marginal letting us know when they fatally attacked him and that he then died of being shot or stabbed. Since these Korps usually fought with a sword (Co-pilot says "The Borussia Korps at the University of Bonn, like many German student corps of the 19th century, engaged in duels as part of their traditions. These duels, known as Mensur, typically involved the use of swords, specifically a type called the Schläger or rapier-like blades. The purpose of these duels was not to cause serious harm but to demonstrate courage and skill, and they were governed by strict rules to ensure fairness"), we infer the marginal stabbed him to death on this occasion and that is then when the replacement took place, so in August 1836 [5]. That probably means he wrote The Capital at the age of 17 or 18 years old, so during the undergraduate, first year: he was then studying Law at the Bonn University following the steps of his father, who he truly admired (not at all like Wikipedia states [5], that he wanted to do something else and the father a sort of forced him to do Law). They then say his grades deteriorated and that is then the marginal doing his exams, so after usurpation. They then justify like that the change of university, but it is mostly so that nobody notices that the righteous owner of the ID has been killed and it is now an imposter occupying his ID. Since the marginal seems to then establish a connection between what he supposedly studied and his work, it is guaranteed that some discipline he studied while attending the Bonn University made him think about industrialization processes, labour relations and others, so that there might be some composition or essay of his from back then in which he already set up the principles of The Capital somehow. He then worked on the book in the first semester already and, when the marginal usurped, all was already completed. The marginal probably entered the place where Karl Marx lived back then, which, according to Co-pilot, was a rented room, and inspected it, when he then found and read Karl Marx's first and only book, The Capital. That was when he decided to usurp Karl Marx's existence. That could have been a black cleaner, a black receptionist, a black manager, a black flatmate or yet another black person, probably an African descent. The marginal did not yet have a way to change his skin colour to white, so that he would have done voice to skull [6] in some white, so probably the man in the leftmost picture above. That means the marginal brainwashed this man [6] in the direction of believing that was his original ID and life, then inserting whatever narrative it was, as they do these days by means of 666. Notice that the man appearing on the leftmost picture looks confused and stares to the side, on top of holding the supposed fox in a really weird manner, perhaps a manner that makes us think he is in shock, like perhaps being abused together with the fox. Were it these days, they would simply have moved him via device on that occasion. Maybe the marginal let him attend one exam, then he didn't do well for having no background, and the marginal then made the usurper of the father move him to the next university, when he then appeared as the second man, the one from the middle picture, which means he killed again the white man, so the previous usurper. The new usurper was then already black and probably a member of the satanic brotherhood, when he can then simply be told what to do by the marginal. Even so, as it is nowadays, he gets replaced, as we can tell from observing the difference between the 2nd and 3rd body images in the middle and last picture in the sequence above. Once more, it is always the same system and it is all coming from the actual satanic bible, which is not that of LaVey [7], but one that exists for more than 3,000 years. I believe the satanic brotherhood chose this name, LaVey, because it sounds like 'lavei' in Portuguese (literally 'washed'), so that they washed their sins (reference to a famous Christian song where the tag line is 'when Jesus washed my (our) sins away'), washed their cult through him, like made it look much less worse, embellished it, so perhaps made it be deserving of Our God, since we say wash our sins away when we mean start acquiring authorization to ask Jesus to ask Our God to forgive us or include us among His people. All that follows his death is satanization of his biography, apart from the book The Capital, and should then be regarded as the usurper's biography, therefore his work and person cannot possibly be associated with communism or the supposed wife and her father or the multiple universities thing or the drinking thing or low marks anymore: let's truly desatanize his soul's history of stay in this world, please. There was a bit of confirmation through memories given by the satanic brotherhood as I wrote this, so that 'Braganca'/the devil would have told me almost exactly or exactly the same thing decades ago (they delete my memories through the 666s, I have three, but, sometimes, when I guess things, they let me have my memories or part of those, as it was the case now).

2) John Dewey

According to [8], it was 1881 when 'John Dewey' was working at the Charlotte Schoolhouse in Charlotte, Vermont, as the first principal of the school after it was rebuilt (the fire destroyed it). I believe 'Braganca'/the devil told me the satanic brotherhood cast fire on the school because the usurper of John Dewey (in other words) was not succeeding in getting a placement there. After the fire, he did get one (the memories about this are a little cloudy at the moment, but I believe the devil said the marginal then offered himself to help and that is how he ended up getting the job). In this case, our so priceless and unique native American white Christian John Dewey lost his life before 1881.

Co-pilot confirmed what we saw on a website: that he worked at the Central Avenue High School in Oil City, Pennsylvania, right before that, so from 1879 (when he graduates from the Vermont University in Philosophy (Bachelor) until spring of 1881 (Co-pilot from 17/03/2025: Co-pilot and all AI are in the hands of the marginal, so that today, on 18/03/2025, the information is already different, yet I am sure correct is what we got yesterday (the marginal 'fixes' it as it goes with frequency) [12]. That means John Dewey is most likely to have lost his life between the spring of 1881 and the fall of 1881 (Co-pilot's information from 17/03/2025, as for the start of 'his' period at the Charlotte Schoolhouse), which is an interval of 5 months.

His picture is then yet another, like his true image, of the righteous owner of the ID: his body image differs from those seen in the four pictures above. Notice that these four pictures portray four different men: nose and chin should make you see that even with your naked eye. Interesting that there is some resemblance between the man in the first picture, so the one who worked in Charlotte, and 'Edward Snowden', ex-CIA who exists in multiples [13] (therefore is originally a black male), one of them [14], so that I now wonder if that is his father or something.

The marginal must again have gained access to John Dewey's premises while he lived close to the Central Avenue High School in Oil City: he then entered the place, browsed through his things and found some of his ideas interesting, but nothing special, according to 'Braganca'/the devil. Even so, the marginal decided to usurp his existence, like probably just seeing in him an easy target.

3) Eleanor Roosevelt

These are three very different 'women': nose and shape of the face could make you see this more easily with your naked eyes. The first 'woman' is the one that most resembles an actual woman, however that is ALSO a satanic transgender: the end of her ears, the face in shape of V and the area of the eyes when we cover all below and above it makes you see that. The fold of the face on the second and third ones (thicker skin) and the end of the ear on the first one (the edge of the ear is not seen in whites) indicate negro. The jaw of the second one is exclusively masculine (large and angular). The area of the eyes of the third one, if we cover the rest of the face, is exclusively masculine as well.

It looks like she was my relative, given her family bonds with the Halls (Anna Hall was her mother, according to [15]), but this is for sure one more satanic transgender experience.

[16] says that 'Eleanora Roosevelt' was one of the women who opposed women getting the rights to vote. Yet this is the picture it gave for 'her' at that height and we can see that this one was, for sure, a satanic transgender, therefore a black male: it is the jaws (male) and the fold of the face (thickness of skin, negro). The jaws are wide and with rigid straight lines. The rightmost picture is that of a woman, though: it is not a negro because the skin is thin (it is soft, then it falls down at the same time. The thick skin remains in place instead) and it is a woman because the skin makes a descent from the face to the neck, keeping the inclination, but, in men, it goes in in the middle instead. When 'she' was a woman again, things worked within reason is the conclusion, so again in favor of also women's basic rights (and it was then the natural woman who got the first version of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights for all of us; human kind). The satanic transgender has something in common with 'Chico Buarque' (one of 'his' versions), a singer from Brazil, once more, so perhaps it is something they do to both faces, like the same things.

We cannot determine when the ID was usurped for the first time, therefore when its righteous owner, Eleanora Roosevelt, was murdered, just because we don't have enough pictures and we also don't have enough dates not even in the pictures we have online access to.

We would like to take the opportunity and prove that Christian women are rational beings, and everyone in America who was in power or had influence should be Christian back then, so that all the three 'women' who opposed women getting the rights to vote in [16] are in fact satanic transgenders. We have already proven that to be the case with Eleanor Roosevelt. I have just realized that several people refer to 'her' as Roosevelt, just like men refer to each other in the armed forces and that is then also a sign of satanic transgender experience on the ID. Now see the others, please:

4) Ida (Minerva) Tarbell [18]: America's Greatest Journalist [19]

That is supposed to be Ida Tarbell. Notice the ears sticking out of the negro race plus the flat chin, which women don't have. This is then, once more, a satanic transgender.

Let's see if we can find the righteous owner of the ID by examining online pictures associated with this name:

[18]

[19]

Here we see 3 other satanic transgenders (ears that protrude, jaws that are rigid and angular, etc.). These are 3 different black men and the black man at the top, with [16] under his picture, is yet a different one (noses and chins could make you see the contrast more easily).

That basically means that, at a certain stage, which is probably that of the first usurpation/homicide of the righteous owner of the ID, this ID became one more ID of the satanic transgender experience. We are unable to tell when exactly Ida passed for the same reasons as before.

5) Annie Nathan Meyer – Founder of Women’s/Barnard College at Columbia University [20]

Here we see three different usurpers (noses and ears will help you notice that yourself as well) and all of them seem to be males (angular and rigid jaws) and negros (ear rims), so that we are recording this as one more satanic transgender experience. Even though we thought the satanic brotherhood had at most just stolen the head bug/666 in 1880, and [22] says that is the date of the 3rd picture above, we are sure the eyes of the ‘person’ in such picture are already Al Qaeda eyes, so that the device must have been stolen by the black African males with all its technology/science from the German University that tried to heal rabbis in ex-slaves, black Africans, still by the end of such type of slavery in Germany but before that time, so that there would be enough time for the blacks to develop such technology. [22] reminds me a lot of an ex-QBE fellow called ‘Rhea Fernandes’ and Fernandes seems to be one of the names connecting to ‘my’ Brazilian/Al Qaeda family, perhaps the name of the father of ‘Jayme Braganca Pinheiro’, my Al Qaeda father, which was Jose Fernandes Pinheiro. In this case, we now believe they were already able to change skin color with the 666 back then as well, since the original Annie would have to be white and [22] looks white but ‘Rhea’ claims to be from India and has darker skin than us. We then don’t seem to have any clue on the body image of Annie and I now remember Leinha asking me what a woman who wanted to do something meaningful for women could be doing given certain parameters and I remember having suggested a few things but us ending up with college after she objected to all other things that came before that idea, so that here I think Leinha was trying to make me guess what this ID had done already back then, so more than 3 decades ago. Following the information contained on [22], Annie’s passing dates from before or on 1881, therefore she was at most 14 years old.

The black men apparently created an entire movement in the USA to stop those figuring as women from voting, as incredible as it may seem. See what Co-pilot says: “The movement I mentioned earlier was the anti-suffrage movement in the United States. It was an organized effort to oppose granting women the right to vote, active primarily in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Groups like the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage (NAOWS) played a central role, arguing that women's suffrage would disrupt traditional gender roles and societal harmony. Many members believed that women’s influence was best exerted in the domestic sphere rather than through political participation. This movement included both men and women, with prominent figures like Josephine Jewell Dodge and Minnie Bronson leading the charge. Their arguments often reflected the cultural and social norms of the time, emphasizing the perceived risks of changing the status quo.”

It is almost certainty that all members of such movements were the own black men who invaded America through usurpation instead of legally migrating to it, yet they could also have used the brainwashing techniques they know far too well [6], probably being the first in the world and human history to make use of such a thing (more than 3,000 years ago) and definitely being the human group that most knows about such a thing.

I will perhaps just prove the top leader of the NAOWS was a black man and leave it to the reader to prove the rest, if ever thinking such is necessary, otherwise accepting our claim.

The top leader of the NAOWS was Josephine Jewell Dodge, according to Co-pilot, and I then must observe that the satanic/black men could have picked this name because, for them, it could mean ‘Joseph’ ‘I’ ‘ne’ (isn’t it in Portuguese) Jewell (‘Braganca’ calls male’s genitalia jewells) Dodge (they hide their true genitalia, since they all deceive human kind, not only men: they will die saying they are natural women). ‘Joseph’ could mean man who should feel hate for the woman he married, since she had a kid from someone else who she is lying to be Our God, and for the son of Our God, who is an imposter like her, then also for society from back then, who seemed to have accepted all very well, despite the things the satanic wrote in the bible (even if Joseph and Mary were not Jewish, which is my impression, one of them would have told the community about the future birth of the son of Our God through Mary, so that eventually someone would have told the local rabbi about that, when the rabbi would have to visit them and seek clarification. The rabbi would then either believe them and let it be or claim that was blasphemy to highest and seek that they were stoned to death (local laws. Even though Co-pilot claims those religious laws could not be enforced back then because of the Roman Empire being over the locals, we know, from the own satanic, that they wanted to stone those women who had betrayed the husband or being promiscuous, so that they would definitely having been stoned for something so much heavier than promiscuity in women, plus she would have to have lied down with a normal man without being married, which would equate her to the prostitutes who were to be stoned when Jesus intervened) or claim she was possessed by the devil and register exorcism in his book. If the exorcism were not successful, he would have to keep on going there and exorcising and, since she would always sustain she was pregnant of Our God, the exorcism sessions would be lasting ad infinitum. Some of this would have to be noticed by society, so that it has to be the truth that everyone in their community actually accepted and supported their claim, which was that it was indeed the son of Our God coming through her human body to human kind/earth), then also for the entire world, since they all loved Christianity and spread it everywhere, then perhaps that is why the black man attacks everyone else: not only they were satanic that far already, always members of the same brotherhood, which comes from more than 3,000 years ago, but they didn't see any reasons to change instead of worsening up. NAO actually means No or Not in Portuguese and WS is probably Women's Sex. 'Braganca' actually told me about this, I now vaguely remember and I think it meant that the black men tried to have sex with the white native American Christian women but they said no, so that the acronym is a code for the other blacks to know what the decision was, so no to women's sex, which may then mean that they did accept natural women up to that date, like not yet fighting against their extermination or something, in my humblest, or it could mean that they would all come back to being black men in the end instead of half remaining in the shape of women forever, which might have been what they initially envisaged. It could also be that sex with the transgenders was proven not to be better than sex with the own men. I believe the satanic bible is the one that defends the extermination of all other types of people that be not black men, so that it is more likely that there was never anything that included preservation of the natural women, in my humblest. We notice this mix is frequently happening in Al Qaeda/satanic operations involving top members of the brotherhood that are also top members of Al Qaeda: Portuguese and English. That certainly gives us the impression the blacks involved are from somewhere in Africa where they originally speak Portuguese, as theorized before. We then chose Angola for having recently watched a video about a usurper of the existence of the life of the son of a pastor where their dark/satanic nature was made evident as well as that of his people (and we never heard of humans more evil than those he talked about or himself, as for natural feelings/instincts/thinking and the brotherhood claims humans are naturally evil, so that that has to be where this thing appeared, this feeling). We believe the male originally belonged to there, so to Angola. Besides, the place is closest to the sea and we then believe the black Africans who left jail in Rio de Janeiro by usurping the existence of black African males who had just been freed and received their first IDs/names from the carioca government would more naturally have ended up there, since those buying slaves from the black Africans to take to Rio should prefer those who speak the language of Rio, which was Portuguese, and places where there are more negros in slavery on offer and Angola seems to be the biggest place where they speak Portuguese to that side of Africa, so the side that faces Brazil (Co-pilot points at three possibilities: Cape Verde, Guinea-Bissau and Sao Tome and Principe. Notice here that even the name of the third one already mixes English and Portuguese, so that perhaps there is also some chance they originate in Sao Tome and Principe (were it English, it should have been Saint Thomas and Prince, were it Portuguese, it should have been Sao Tome e Principe).

6) Josephine Jewell Dodge

The first one [23] is black because the ears protrude and the neck width is almost equal to that of the head. It is a man because of the exclusively masculine shape of the face. The second one [24] is a man because of the jaw, which doesn't happen in women: too wide and the region under the mouth is too flat and long. It is a negro because of the end of the ear, which we can see, the one to the right of those staring at it: that part of the ear is more delicate in whites. However, the skin is also thicker on his face and that characterizes only the black race.

We then cannot tell when the actual Josephine, only righteous owner of the ID, passed, unfortunately: not enough pictures. Yet, this ID is also a satanic transgender experience.

The point is then made: all those people who created the movement to oppose women having a vote in the USA were either black men or people who were moved by them via processes of brainwashing.

7) Marta Suplicy

Here we observe that 'Marta Suplicy' is now marked as another transgender experience of the satanic sisterhood, which means these are all black males changed into women and they will become black men again by the end of their process of takeover [28]. An evident sign of manhood is the jaws and an evident sign of negrohood is the thickness of the skin (the way it folds).

I watched 'Marta Suplicy' in the media sometimes in Brazil as I was growing up and I am sure she was feminine and was none of the female figures I now see online, so that something more sinister is happening here. I now remember Leinha saying they liked her and therefore they were going to let her live her natural life and, by the end of it, they would take over her ID as well, so that I assume she has already died even though her ID keeps on going, as we see on [29]. The satanic are then able to change all pictures of a lifetime of a person even when they appeared in the media their entire adult lives (online materials).

For us to determine when the life of the righteous owner of the ID got usurped, we would have to study her pictures throughout time, starting from at most her undergraduate time. Yet we would need a picture from when she was a child, preferably a baby, to be able to tell if her ID was not usurped before that as well. Unfortunately, it is not possible to get such pictures online, so that we will have to leave this as a suggestion to others.

II. Conclusion

We have no way to determine the exact date of passing or of the homicide of any of the people whose biographies we discussed in this paper and they were 7 people in total: Karl Marx, John Dewey, Eleanor Roosevelt, Ida Tarbell, Annie Nathan Meyer, Josephine Jewell Dodge and Marta Suplicy. One of the reasons for this is that, even if sometimes we have a few pictures available online that are associated with the name of the person, those pictures usually don't come with dates they were taken, and we seem to never have pictures of when the person was a baby, which would give us at least more chances of finding out how the original occupier of the ID, only righteous owner, looked like. Another reason is not enough information available in the sources available to us.

Karl Marx died in August of 1836 during what was described as a duel on Wikipedia [5]. He had already written The Capital at that stage and he probably wrote it during his first semester at the Bonn University while studying Law, what he did for following the steps of his father, for whom he had great admiration and gratitude. He would have dedicated The Capital to him somehow, so probably through words in the preface or Dedication Page. He died at the age of 18 years old. We don't have a way to guess how he looked like and all pictures currently available online for free do not belong to him: they belong to usurpers instead. The supposed incomplete works of his, Scorpion and Felix and Oulanem, are not his: those were written by the marginal after his death. His father was extremely interested in both Kant and Voltaire and their thought does align with what we see in The Capital, so that his father is a remarkable figure for him, inspiring, also in intellectual and artistic terms. He had a girlfriend when at the Bonn University, before he got killed, so while he was attending the first year of his course, and it is that one who inspired him when he wrote his love poems, not the wife the marginal invented for his ID and after his death. The poems were then all already written by the time the marginal killed him, with the marginal simply relaying those, together with The Capital, years later. He was never part of any drinking club and he also never got marks as bad as to force him into studying somewhere else (who would have sat for an exam of his and got bad marks is the marginal's usurper and he was not necessarily someone who chose to do so). He would have attended some discipline during his course with the Bonn University, before his murder, that led him to write about labor or products and production, something related to The Capital, and it is from his work there, probably an essay, that The Capital really originated. Marxism and Communism frontally oppose each other: the ideas of Karl Marx serve the purpose of particularizing the way society sees the individual as much as possible, a unique creature of Our God in all senses, while the communist ideas serve the purpose of nullifying all possible individuality, so that the individual becomes so nothing that the state, which is an abstract entity, merges with his/her self.

John Dewey is most likely to have died between the spring of 1881 and the fall of 1881 (inside of these 5 months). We seem to have no picture for him available online for free: all pictures found online represent usurpers instead. He graduated from the Vermont University, where he did a bachelor in Philosophy, and got a job in the same year, 1879, at the Central Avenue High School in Pennsylvania. He worked there until the spring of 1881. It is extremely likely that that is also when he died, since he would be a very stable person and no intents to leave the school where he worked at that stage. The marginal usurps his ID and decides it is best if he works somewhere else (so that it is less likely that people detect usurpation). He then tries to get a job at the Charlotte Schoolhouse in Charlotte but they don't want to employ him there, despite his ID. He then organizes a fire at the school and later on offers himself to help with the recovery, when they 'finally' give it to him and then invite him to even be the first principal of the school.

Eleanor Roosevelt, Ida (Minerva) Tarbell, Annie Nathan Meyer, Josephine Jewell Dodge and Marta Suplicy were all murdered and replaced by the marginal at a certain stage of their lives, when their IDs became part of what is now called satanic transgender experience, which means all usurpers are satanic transgenders, therefore black men changed into women. That is the actual reason as to why there were ever groups in the USA opposing women being awarded rights to vote: the supposed women were actually either negro men disguised as such or natural women who had been subjected to heavy processes of brainwashing by the marginal/black men.

Even though the marginal was not able to change skin colour through 666 in 1836 (couldn't do that to the usurper of Karl Marx's existence), he was able to do it at most in 1880 (could do it in the case of Annie Nathan Meyer's ID usurper). 'Braganca'/the devil, Al Qaeda top leader, second in charge by 1972, seems to have told me he is originally from Sao Tome and Principe, place where they mix English with Portuguese, according to him, which aligns with the name they gave the place. Co-pilot however blames the name of the place on the language industry. The satanic brotherhood/sisterhood frequently uses key-names mixing both languages. He once had these men's sandals that were very special, made of very special leather, open at the front, so showing the toes, also open at the back, so showing the heels, yet covered in full in the middle, forming an exotic model, which I haven't seen anywhere in the world I go yet. They would tie to the side of the ankle, but it was not Velcro. They were really everlasting. They all (members of the marginal) did things to show me where they were from originally, following our conversations (the members of my small Al Qaeda family, so 'father', 'mother', 'sister' and 'brother' (the other 'brother' is not really into crime, more of a victim), and I then believe this is a Cinderello case: if we confirm the sandals came from Sao Tome, then that is where he came from originally.
