

Novel self-emulsifying drug delivery system based on locally extracted breadfruit seed oil for enhancement of gastrointestinal fluid solubility of ibuprofen”

Romanus C. Omeh

---

Date of Submission: 12-11-2022

Date of Acceptance: 28-11-2022

---

Notice of withdrawal of my manuscript

I hereby formally inform you that I am withdrawing my manuscript titled “Novel self-emulsifying drug delivery system based on locally extracted breadfruit seed oil for enhancement of gastrointestinal fluid solubility of ibuprofen” for the following reasons:

- i. In the instruction to authors section of your journal home page, you indicated that you will acknowledge the receipt of manuscripts and assign manuscript identity number within 48 hours of manuscript submission. I submitted my manuscript on 1st November 2022 and 9 days after, being today, 9th November 2022, you have neither acknowledged the receipt of my manuscript no assign it an identity number.
- ii. I have sent three different mails to the journal via the contact process you provided requesting that you do the acknowledgment and assign the ID number but you did not respond to any of the mails.
- iii. I have tried to tract my manuscript through your provided manuscript statues tracking system but always ended up in a blank page.
- iv. I have attempted to make direct calls to one of your editors whose number I came accros online but the service provider indicated that such number was not allocated to any customer

In view of the above, I currently have serious doubt on your willingness to accord my manuscript fair assessment based on existing ethical requirement for publishers. Consequently, I hereby withdraw the manuscript and ask you to discontinue ( if ever you had started) any action related to processing, editing, publishing or cause to be published in any other journal in whole or part, in English language or any other language, electronically/online or hard copy and in any other form whatsoever..

Recall that I did not transfer the copyright ownership to your journal neither did I make any payment for any service as you never even completed the process of receiving the manuscript. I have therefore withdrawn the manuscript and hereby inform you that I will be submitting same to another publisher for consideration and possible publication.

Thank you.

Romanus C. Omeh

